SALT RIVER TUBING ANNOUNCES Monster Halloween and Mega Hawaiian Hula Events

Submitted by Lynda Breault, Salt River Tubing

Come join the excitement on the Salt River! Salt River Tubing is back and has two exciting events in July — Monster Halloween and Mega Hawaiian Hula.

The cost for each of the all-day events is just $19 plus tax per person, which includes tube rental, shuttle bus service, and free parking at Salt River Tubing.

And don't forget, Salt River Tubing is open every day from 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. and the latest tube rental is 1 p.m. The last shuttle bus ride is at 6:30 p.m.

SPOOKTACULAR MONSTER HALLOWEEN

Join us for our 22nd Annual Spooktacular Monster Halloween, July 17, 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., for a ghoulish delightful floating beach blast adventure. Free Halloween bandanas for all tricksters while supplies last.

"Halloween in July! Howling phantoms, cackling witches and screaming ghosts on the Salt River," said Salt River Tubing President and Chief Executive Officer Henri Breault. "Our ghostly shuttle buses provide a whimsical and spooky ride as the Ghoul Times Roll on Salt River!"

Tubers can join Salt River Tubing's tricksters frolicking to the Monster Mash line dance and grab photo ops with the Spooktacular FUN crew!

Costumes are optional for floaters; however, Salt

River Tubing will be awarding complimentary tube rental passes for the Best Tuber Spooktacular Monster costumes. Passes are valid on a return visit.

Salt River Tubing's Spooktacular Monster Halloween event is aligned with the USDA Forest Service's commitment in meeting the challenge of reduced youth involvement in outdoor activities. The Halloween-themed event has been designed to capture the attention of teenage youth and encourage them to enjoy the great outdoors on the Lower Salt River in Tonto National Forest.

MEGA HAWAIIAN HULA

Aloha Arizona fun-seekers! Grab your ukulele, coconuts, grass skirt and set sail at our Mega Hawaiian Hula special event, Saturday, July 31, 9 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Free Hawaiian leis while supplies last and free Mega Hula bandanas for Aloha tubers!

Our Mega Hawaiian Hula event offers a Polynesian journey in the great outdoors of Tonto National Forest. Skip the trip to Hawaii — you can shake your grass skirt with the Hula Honeys during the hukilau line dance and see how low you can go under the limbo stick! Hawaiian-tiki barges will transport guests to the Lower Salt River for fun in the sun on the rocking river rapids.

"Sail your tube Hawaiian-style and enjoy a refreshing voyage on the mountain stream waters of the Salt River! The Mega Hawaiian Hula event is the perfect venue to experience a unique, fun-filled adventure on the Salt River," said Henri. "Wave aloha to thousands of flowered-lei tubers in the mini-Grand Canyon of Tonto National Forest!"

The More Teens in the Woods Hawaiian event offers live entertainment by LIVE 101.5 radio station, limbo and hula hoop contests, plus loads of photo opportunities in the great outdoors. Salt River Tubing will be awarding free tube rental passes for the Best Hawaiian tuber costumes. The tubing passes are valid on your return visit.

RECREATE RESPONSIBLY WITH SAFE DISTANCING

SRTR encourages floaters to help ensure a responsible safe distancing atmosphere at the terminal building and on its shuttle buses during transport to the Salt River.

Shooting the Salt River rapids is great fun, and company officials recommend the following helpful tubing tips to assist tubers in planning their floating beach blasts:

- A valid driver's license is required for a tube rental deposit per five tubes rented.
- Children must be at least eight years or older and four feet tall for tubing and shuttle bus service.
- Life vests are strongly recommended for children, non-swimmers and inexperienced swimmers.
- Glass containers by law are not allowed in the Salt River Recreational Area. Ice chests will be inspected for glass containers before boarding shuttle buses. Please use plastic bottles or aluminum can containers.
- Have a great time during your floating beach blasts, but remember that drugs, alcohol and the Salt River do not mix. Responsibly appoint a designated driver before your tubing adventure.
- Floating picnic ideas include fresh fruit, burritos, fried chicken or sandwiches. Pack picnic items in Ziploc bags to keep dry. Please stash and bag all picnic supplies in litter bags while floating.
- Sun block, tennis shoes, cap or visor should be worn. A minimum 30 SPF is recommended.
- Ice chest/coolers: Fill with ice, sport drinks, fruit juice and water. One to two bottles of water per hour while floating is recommended to help prevent dehydration. ■

Salt River Tubing is located in Northeast Mesa, just minutes from Highway 202 East and Power Road (North) Exit 23A, in beautiful Tonto National Forest. For more information about Salt River Tubing and events, please visit saltrivertubing.com, or call (480) 984-3305.

Tim Sends a Big "Thank You"

By Dawn Abbey

During the pandemic, people wanting rides to and from the airport decreased substantially, but Tim Schultz, owner of T & T Airport Service, believes locals preferred using his personalized service over other rideshare options.

"I think that's because most of our clients are over 50 and live here in the neighborhood and didn't want a ride to the airport with just any stranger," Tim commented.

"It's been a tough year, but we're still here thanks to the loyalty of our local customers who kept us going. And we also have a big Thank You for the dozens of new riders who have chosen to use our airport ride service now that travel is opening back up," Tim said.

After 21 years of shuttling locals to Phoenix Sky Harbor and Phoenix-Mesa Gateway airports with the motto We Never Miss, T & T Airport Service has completed 43,000 trips and there have only been five instances where they had a glitch, according to the owner.

"We call it Airport Service because service is the major part of our business. Passengers ride in a private, clean, comfortable, roomy sedan. With all the new construction and changes at the airport, it can be somewhat confusing, so we drop you at the most convenient place. With our airport pickup, there's no waiting outside in the heat and busy traffic. We park in the garage, meet you inside the airport terminal and assist with your luggage," Tim explained. And best of all, he emphasized, is you know who's driving your ride. ■

To schedule an airport ride or pickup with T & T Airport Service, call Tim at (480) 832-3483. Rides to Sky Harbor from the Northeast Mesa area are a flat fee of $45 each way. Phoenix-Mesa Gateway Airport is $30 each way.

Commitment to Building the Whole Child

By Jennifer Salvatori, M.A. Ed., Principal

With the start of the 2021-22 school year, Self Development Academy (SDA) begins its 22nd year educating Arizona's children and young adults. SDA, a kindergarten through eighth grade public charter school, is well known in the surrounding community and state for its outstanding academic programs and is repeatedly ranked among the top schools in Arizona.

In addition to providing an exceptional academic program, preparing students for high school and beyond, SDA is committed to developing well-rounded children that are exposed to a wide variety of subjects, and providing opportunities for skill development such as critical thinking and public speaking.

SDA staff, faculty, students, and families are excited about the upcoming school year and returning to a more normal school environment and daily routine around the campus. Presently, the campus is abuzz as plans are finalized for the 2021-22 school year. It is with much excitement that SDA shares news of the upcoming school year that emphasizes a long-standing commitment to developing the whole child.

SPECIALS AND ELECTIVES

For the 2021-22 school year, SDA will offer students the following specials and electives: Physical Education, Music, Foreign Language, Art, Technology, and Logic and Reasoning. Each special and elective follows a particular curriculum per grade level.

As examples, each week the kindergarten and first grade students participate in a music class and twice a year, these grade level students perform songs. Students enrolled in second through eighth grade may participate in weekly violin lessons, and percussion is offered to students in fourth grade and higher. Also, in elementary school, Logic and Reasoning challenges students' higher level, critical thinking skills. As well, middle school students learn how to apply philosophy concepts as part of the Logic and Reasoning curriculum.

AFTERSCHOOL CLUBS

Beginning in August, SDA will offer afterschool clubs. Activities include sports, dance, drama, choir, foreign language, and tutoring. All activities are geared toward particular age and grade levels.

SOCIAL-EMOTIONAL LEARNING AT SDA

SDA is committed to the social-emotional growth of children and incorporates social-emotional learning within the curriculum. Social-emotional learning focuses on students developing skills in the following areas: self-awareness, self-management, responsible decision making, relationships, and social awareness.

The areas are in alignment with the school's 4 Rs — being Respectful to self and others, being Responsible, being Ready to Learn, and being Resilient. The social-emotional needs of the students will be extremely important to address as we transition and return to a more normal school environment this year. It will be the first time certain students have stepped on a school campus in a year and a half.

The SDA school community is excited to welcome students on Aug. 3 as we kick off the 2021-22 school year! ■

How Should I Cover MY PATIO DOORS?

Submitted by Linda Palm, Window to Design

While vertical blinds used to be the most common way to cover large windows and patio doors, they're no longer your only option. From cellular shades and sheers to sliding panels and interior shutters, there are a variety of window treatments that can fit your needs and personal style.

VERTICAL CELLULAR SHADES: If you live in a particularly hot or cold climate, vertical cellular shades are ideal because they offer superior energy efficiency. And what's nice is that when you open them, the pleated fabric contracts almost completely, so you have plenty of view-through.

SHEER VERTICAL SHADES: With soft, sheer fabric facings attached to soft rotating fabric vanes, sheer shades beautifully diffuse natural light while offering the functionality of vertical blinds.

PANEL TRACK BLINDS: Made of flat, fabric panels that slide on a track, panel track blinds are a sleek, contemporary alternative to vertical blinds.

INTERIOR SHUTTERS: Shutters are also a great choice. But before choosing an operating system, check how much clearance you have around your door or window.

Keep in mind that if you're covering a door, choose a window treatment that traverses side to side. Fortunately, with so many styles these days, finding a solution is easy! ■

THE EVOLUTION OF Long Term Care Insurance

By Michael J. Day, CPA, PFS™ Grand Canyon Wealth Management

A common misconception is that Medicare will cover your long-term care if the need ever arrives for you. Unfortunately, Medicare was never intended to cover long term care needs and people have to have a plan in place for this need.

Nursing homes started to provide long term care to individuals in the 1960s and long-term care insurance started to be offered in the late 1970s. These early policies had premiums paid on a monthly basis for a benefit that one hoped to never need.

Within a few years, it became clear that insurance companies had grossly underestimated the number of claims that would be filed and how much of an increase there would be in health care costs over time, and multiple insurers were unable to pay their claims.

Long term care insurance policies transitioned from traditional stand-alone policies to a combination or hybrid model that utilized life insurance with a long-term care rider.

Multiple policy designs exist that allows the consumer to select a policy that meets their individual needs. Return of premium riders exist that will pay a death benefit to a beneficiary if the insured dies when benefits received under the policy are less than the premiums paid to the insurer. The benefit is equal to the excess of premiums paid over benefits received.

There are policies that have a reimbursement of expense feature that will reimburse the policy holder for expenses up to the coverage amount of the policy, or an indemnity payment which will pay a fixed dollar amount each month no matter how much actual expenses are incurred.

Long term care insurance can cover home care, adult daycare, assisted living, respite care, hospice care, nursing home care as well as home modifications to accommodate disabilities. Benefits are payable when an insured is unable to perform two of the six activities of daily living, which are bathing, dressing, eating, transferring, toileting and continence. How long benefits are paid and policy waiting periods vary and may be selected at policy inception or in some cases at the time a claim is made.

Long term care costs can create a severe drain on one's resources and while not everyone needs to have long term care insurance, everyone needs to have a plan in place on how you will handle an event should it occur. Meeting with a financial advisor to evaluate your unique situation and assisting you in a policy design and selection that fits your needs is a recommended course of action for a prudent person in the design of their estate plan. ■

There are certain items that come up on a regular basis on home inspections. These are the ones I wanted to point out so you won't be surprised to see them on your inspection report. Or you may want to have them checked out before you have the inspection.

1. SHUT OFF VALVES This is one of those items that is called out on pretty much every inspection unless the shut off valves have been changed within the last six months. It doesn't necessarily mean your shut off valves are seized, but if they don't turn easily, the inspector will mark them as ceased and needing to be replaced. The inspector won't put any effort into turning the shut off valves because if they do, and they break, now they have a major leak on their hands. If you think they are good, you

5. ROOF I can't tell you how many times sellers have told me that there is nothing wrong with their roof and are surprised to find they have cracked tiles. Most roofs have clay tiles, and with the excessive heat in Arizona, the tiles don't necessarily have to be hit by anything in order for them to crack. Dead valleys often need to be cleaned and mortar caps redone. Also, flat roofs on patios and balconies often have cracks at the seams or need to be recoated. All of these are very easy and inexpensive fixes.

Some sellers don't want the inspector climbing on the roof for fear they will crack the tiles; however, inspectors should know how to walk on them properly and it's hard to do an inspection without going on the roof. It's not just broken

If it is a concern, make sure you let the buyer's agent know so they can make arrangements with the inspector or have a separate roofing contractor do the inspection. Even if you have your own roof inspection done, the chances are the buyer will still ask his inspector to check the roof as well.

The second type of fault is the window has been breached. If the window's seal has been broken, you will see condensation between the panes. Some inspectors may state the window is breached and needs to be replaced at any sign of a sagging seal.

Make sure the inspector has access to everything and is able to do the complete inspection. If they need to come back out because the electrical panel was locked or all the utilities were not turned on, the re-inspection fee will be passed on to the seller. Make sure all locks are removed and everywhere, including the access door to the attic, are accessible.

All utilities need to be turned on. If you have controls for the fans, make sure you leave them out. If you have a gas fireplace, make sure the gas is turned on and the pilot light is lit so the inspector can turn it on.

You want to make it as easy as possible for the inspector so he doesn't have to return or call out something saying it doesn't work just because he couldn't turn it on.

If you would like more information on how to prepare for a home inspection prior to listing your home, please let me know. I have a detailed list of things to check that I can send you, or we can set up an appointment. ■

A Delicious Grass-Fed Beef EXPERIENCE TO CONSIDER

By Randall Clarke

Ever wish that you could buy grass-fed, delicious beef directly from a ranch and pay less than traditional butcher shop prices? Well, your wish has been granted. Sweetwater Farm Natural Beef are now selling their natural, healthy beef to residents of Northeast Mesa.

Sweetwater Farm Natural Beef, located in the San Luis Valley and San Juan Mountains of Southern Colorado, raise their grass-fed steers to USDA standards that requires continuous access to pasture and prevents animals from being fed grain or grain-based products. As well, the steers have not been fed any antibiotics, nor have they received any unnecessary prophylactic antibiotic injections (both common practice in feedlots).

“We both come from families that have enjoyed a long tradition of ranching and farming, and we feel very fortunate to continue that tradition and sustainably raise healthy, delicious beef which we sell directly to the consumer. We take pride that 90 percent of our sales every year are repeat customers,” said Susan Hamilton and Patrick Phillips, owners of Sweetwater Farm.

Most of us have heard or read of the benefits of grass-fed beef versus traditional, consumer or commodity grain-fed beef. But, according to Ed Doyle, owner of Real Food, a restaurant management consulting firm in Boston, “Consumers need to understand there is a difference. Grass-fed beef is not an alternative to commodity beef; it’s its own product with bolder flavors.” Besides having incredible taste, consuming grass-fed beef is better for you. Grass-fed beef is packed with heart healthy omega-3’s, and lower levels of harmful omega-6 fatty acids. It is also one of the richest known sources of anti-carcinogenic conjugated linoleic acid (CLA), and contains high levels of much-needed vitamin E. Additionally, grass-fed beef has been shown to help with blood sugar regulation, and is also less likely to be contaminated during meat processing.

Pricing starts at $7.75 per pound and portions are offered as Full Steer, Half Steer, Quarter Steer, and Eighth Steer Sampler. Reservations and deposits are required for these products for delivery between late October and early November. And, if these portions seem too large for just your family, consider joining forces with your friends to experience this incredible opportunity!

Pick-up will be at a convenient distribution point here in Northeast Mesa. The exact date will be communicated to you at least one month in advance. The meat will all be frozen, and there will be a one-to-two-day finite window for everyone to get their beef. ■

For information on portions, pricing and more, you can contact Sweetwater Farm Natural Beef at (928) 814-8241 or visit swbeef.com.

GRASS FED BEEF

Important Health Benefits

Reduce Your Risk of Cancer

CLA shows great promise in the battle against cancer. Grass-fed beef and dairy products are the richest known source of CLAs, and 3-5 times higher in CLA amounts than conventional beef and dairy products from grain fed cows.

Reduce Risk of Heart Disease

Grass-fed beef contains less overall fat and less unhealthy fat, has lower levels of cholesterol, higher levels of omega-3, more CLA, and is higher in heart disease fighting vitamins.

Hormone & Antibiotic Free

Sweetwater Farm never administers hormones or antibiotics to the cows that it raises, butchers, and sells.

Improve Blood Sugar

Healthy fats are essential to healthy body functions. Grass-fed beef high in CLA fatty acids have been shown to be beneficial to mediate insulin effects on the body, and improve insulin sensitivity.

Environmentally Friendly

Research shows that traditional grass-based beef production benefits the environment by decreasing greenhouse gas emissions, increasing biodiversity, and improves water quality of run-off from well-managed pastures.

Safest Beef Option

A Consumer Reports study has shown that choosing grass-fed beef over conventional beef decreases your risk of food poisoning and grass-fed meat contains fewer antibiotic-resistant bacteria.

Should You Buy First or Sell First

By John and Natascha Karadsheh, Designated Broker, Associate Broker and Owners, KOR Properties

Are you thinking of moving? If you are, then you are probably lying awake at night trying to decide if it is better to buy first or sell first.

In a perfect world, most sellers would love to find a buyer for their home and at the same time find their dream home. The transactions would coordinate perfectly and there would be no worries regarding financing or timing.

While this can happen when all the stars align (and with experienced agents navigating the process), it is usually a little more complicated process. On top of all the normal stresses of moving, today's fast-moving market adds additional challenges.

Let's take a look at some of the pros and cons to both approaches.

John and Natascha Karadsheh

- The stress and cost of moving multiple times if you don't find a home to purchase right away.
- The rental market is very competitive and expensive. Finding a short-term rental is a challenge as many traditional rentals are now VRBOs.
- The cost of renting a storage unit is high and storage units are in short supply.
- In today's market, it may take months to find the right home and you could get priced out of the market while you are sitting in a rental.

BUY FIRST, THEN SELL

PROS

- You have the time to find just the right home and not make a rushed decision.
- Minimum disruption to your life.
- Move in at your own pace to your new home.
- Have time to remodel and update the home you are purchasing before you move in.
- Make more money on your existing home due to increasing values.

CONS

- Not having the liquidity to purchase your next home before selling your first one.

- Potentially having to manage two mortgages for a period of time.
- May cause you to accept a lower price on your first home if you can no longer afford two mortgages.
- Maintenance on two homes can be twice as expensive.

So, what do we think? Because the market is moving so fast and values have been increasing so rapidly, it actually makes the most sense to buy first and then sell if you can make it work financially. However, there is not a definitive best order to buying and selling. It all depends on your personal and financial circumstances.

The good news is that now, more than ever, we have amazing tools in our toolbox to help sellers find ways to buy first and then sell. From creative financing, to a plethora of buyers waiting in the wings, now is the time to take advantage of finding your dream home before you sell.

We make this happen all the time and we have the experience to help you craft a winning real estate strategy. We can help you get answers quickly and help you get on your way to your dream home! Give us a call and we can schedule a time to draft a custom plan of action that fits your needs. ■

Diamondback Air Helps Keeps Mesa Residents Cool DURING AN UNPRECEDENTED SUMMER

By Jamie Killin

Between record-breaking temperatures and equipment shortages, it's about to be a hot, hot, hot summertime in the Valley.

Diamondback Air is a veteran-owned and operated company and has been helping Valley residents to stay cool for nearly three decades and has recently refocused the business on the Northeast Mesa area to better serve the communities.

For the owner Mr. Herman and team, it's about doing whatever it takes to keep their clients comfortable — even if it means driving the Valley to get parts and supplies or having equipment come in from the Midwest to combat equipment shortages, which has been made worse by the recent heatwave.

"We truly care about our customers and go above and beyond for them as we feel it's the right thing to do," said the owner.

This approach has won over thousands of happy customers in the last 28 years thanks to Diamondback Air's quick service, extensive knowledge and integrity.

Diamondback Air has a few suggestions to help you and yours stay cool regardless of what this summer brings. Based on supply chain shortages, you may need to install mismatched/labeled equipment as higher-end equipment will be unavailable. While this is not ideal (possible rebate and warranty issues), this type of installation should only be installed by a qualified, experienced professional, not just an average tech who may not have this experience.

As well, you may find yourself needing to use refurbished/reconditioned equipment to keep your residence cool until new equipment is available.

Diamondback also wants customers to know that due to supply chain issues, commerce issues, etc. you might find yourself paying 30 to 50 percent more for equipment during this unfortunate time. Diamondback has learned from suppliers that this may be an 18 to 24-month ordeal (if all goes well) to get inventory back in shape. Most factories are down over 1,000 employees.

So, it's not companies trying to make an extra buck — it's the unfortunate result of high demand for both services and equipment.

However, there are things you can do to keep your existing air conditioning system in working condition and possibly avoid a breakdown.

First, don't be alarmed if your system seems to be running constantly. During normal times expect your system to start three to five times per hour. During hot, humid times like monsoon season the longer your unit runs — during longer cycles, as in three or less — the better it will de-humidify your residence. We recommend you run your fan in the on position constantly during this time and keep that filter clean.

"When we have overpowering heat, know that your system is only designed to max out at a 30 to 35-degree differential from the outside ambient on average," said the owner.

However, as your residence gets cooler, so does the air. So, while many people fear running their air conditioning all day, Diamondback says that's the most effective way to keep your home cool during the monsoon season.

Homeowners can also preserve their system and save money by replacing their filters and taking other smart, actionable steps, such as it's safe to wash the outdoor unit coils with water while it's running for a more effective rinse, and use one designated door to enter and leave the home and always close the garage door to help keep cold air inside, as this is a major heat gain for residents.

"Be safe and be blessed," said the owner. ■

EDUCATION

MESA PUBLIC SCHOOLS Welcomes Class of 2034

By Laurie Struna

Give your child the best start to their education by enrolling them in kindergarten at Mesa Public Schools. With award-winning neighborhood schools located throughout the district, there's always an excellent choice around the corner.

Families have a variety of options, including free Montessori, dual language immersion, International Baccalaureate, Franklin traditional schools and more.

The first day of school begins Tuesday, Aug. 3. Whether you will be selecting full or half-day kindergarten, it's important to enroll your child online as soon as possible at mpsaz.org/enroll.

WHAT IS NEEDED TO REGISTER MY CHILD?

To register your child, you will need proof of the child's age and identity, their current immunization record and proof of physical residence. Children enrolling in kindergarten must turn five before Sept. 1, per state law and Governing Board policy.

Younger learners may be eligible to participate in preschool, prekindergarten and early-entrance assessment. For more information regarding early learning programs, please visit mpsaz.org/kinderu.

Education is a partnership between the family and school, and each child's path may be different. If you have questions about school readiness, have a milestone discussion with your child's preschool teacher or pediatrician. Consider speaking with the principal or a kindergarten teacher at the school your child will attend, and explore the school's website for helpful information.

Kim Freehan, early childhood specialist for Mesa Public Schools, shares that preparing children for kindergarten is an exciting time. It's when they grow into independent and enthusiastic learners.

"Exposure to a variety of books will increase children's language skills and self-expression," Kim says. "Help instill a love of learning in your child. Children love words that are unique. Think about selecting books about real-life people, places and events. Study the pictures together to see how they illustrate the facts." ■

Mesa Public Schools is excited to welcome your family to the district. Learn more and enroll online at mpsaz.org/enroll.

Increasing Flexibility and Mobility ONE STRETCH AT A TIME

Submitted by Stretch Zone Longbow

Stretch Zone is on a mission to spread the word about flexibility and mobility! Whether you are a golfer, runner, a mountaineer, or just the average Joe, Stretch Zone is here for you. Pliability has been proven to increase performance, and quality of life. Maintaining the use of muscles increases mobility and flexibility, which keeps the muscles healthy, strong, and flexible. Without stretching, the muscles begin to shorten and tighten. Stretch Zone has created a style of assisted stretching that generates the ability to control and alter the timing of the stretch reflex. This process stimulates the neuromuscular connection, recovering the communication between the brain and muscles. Using the muscles in this technique enhances flexibility and mobility. The tightness caused by the lack of communication between the brain and the muscle can cause serious injury and long-term damage to the body. Stretch Zone has trained neuromuscular behavioralists, or stretch practitioners, that use specific protocols to target problem areas and relieve tension. During their 30-minute sessions they use their patented equipment to help secure the body to eliminate compensation and stress during the stretch. This equipment helps the body to attain the most important portion of stretching — relaxing. Similar to any athletic motion, you can have either the mobility or flexibility in that motion, but without the ability to relax, you have nothing.

Stretch Zone's methods eliminate the strain and tension that one feels when stretching on their own. Stretching wakes the body up. It does this by releasing endorphins and increasing blood flow within the body. The health benefits that follow the physical reaction to stretching are priceless! "It is hard to walk out of here feeling anything short of amazing. I wish I could do this every day!" says one of Stretch Zone Longbow's members. During the initial session the practitioner creates a diagnosis of the members' flexibility and mobility. From there, the practitioner puts together a plan that usually includes four to 12 sessions per month. Sessions range from $35 to $50 dollars with the greater frequency plans being more inexpensive per session. Stretch Zone offers month-to-month auto renew packages that are not contracted and accepts payments through HSA and FSA. ■

Stretch Zone Longbow is located at 3204 N. Recker Road, Suite 104, Mesa. Schedule your session by calling (480) 590-1133. For more information, go to stretchzone.com.

Your CBD Store Offers Calming Products for Pets

By Jamie Killin

If you've noticed that your pet suffers from anxiety — especially with Fourth of July fireworks and other loud noises — one great way to naturally help calm your cats and dogs stress is with CBD.

In fact, studies show that CBD might be even more effective for our pets than it is for humans.

"Cats and dogs have more receptors for CBD than humans do, and because of that, we've had some great feedback from customers," said owner Tracy Klimczak.

Pet owners have reported that CBD has helped their pets in a variety of ways — one cat was able to feel less anxious during a cross-country car ride, it's helped a high-energy puppy relax, many dogs feel relief from aging pains, and it's even minimized anxious behavior in a rescue dog.

"This one poor dog was continually going and staring at a wall for hours at a time and our customer gave him one of the treats. Within fifteen minutes the dog was up and moving around, and was no longer staring at the wall," said Tracy.

CBD can also help manage any separation anxiety pets might feel as many people are going back to their offices following the pandemic.

Tracy and his wife, Your CBD Store co-owner Tiana, have even seen the benefits for their own dog, Zona, who is now able to wind down at the end of the day with CBD treats.

"Anytime you're getting your dog on a medication or a change of diet, you do have some concerns, and what we were concerned with even though we know CBD isn't a pharmaceutical or narcotic, is that we didn't want our dog to lose her personality," said Tracy. "She's very active but by seven or eight at night we didn't want to be playing fetch anymore, so we've found that by giving our fur baby some of the peanut butter snacks, it calms her down just enough."

Your CBD Store offers three different types of products for your pet — tinctures in an oil form that can be added to the pet's food, treats in different flavors, and even a balm that can help moisturize pets paws and dog's noses for pain relief and extra moisture during Arizona's hot summer weather.

"This time of year, when our pets go in the backyard, a lot of our desert landscaping can be very hot and rough on their paws, which can get even more scratched up this time of year. So being able to rub this on their paws and their noses helps with their overall pet health," said Tracy.

Your CBD Store offers different dosages of its products and can work with you to determine what the best product and dose is for your pet depending on their size and needs.

"We're a small family-owned business. We want people to come in and ask questions so we can help them," said Tracy. "That's why we got into the business. We want to be here to coach them and even give them samples to take home to their cats and dogs if they'd like." ■

Your CBD Store is located at 345 S. Power Road, Unit 104 in Mesa. For more information, call the store at (480) 597-6887. Your CBD Store is available to ship products nationwide.

Don't Let Investments Go on Vacation

Submitted by Brent D. Hoskinson and Linda Drake

Now that the COVID-19 pandemic has subsided somewhat, people are feeling freer to travel. But while it's nice for you to take a vacation, you won't want your investments to do the same. How can you keep them working on your behalf?

First, invest consistently. If you only dabble in investing, occasionally putting some money in to one investment or another, it will be difficult to build a portfolio that's consistently working in your best interest.

Also, you need to own enough of the types of investments that can provide the growth you need to reach your long-term goals. And make sure you're getting the most out of these investments. For example, your 401(k) and IRA are designed for your retirement – so try to avoid tapping into them early.

Finally, review your investment portfolio at least once a year to make sure it's still performing the way you intend. If it's not helping you make the progress you need to achieve your objectives, you may want to make some changes.

If you're traveling this summer, relax, take in the sights and enjoy yourself – but keep those investments working hard. ■

Lynne Jones Can Help You Decide to Enroll in Medicare Part A and Part B

Submitted by Tapestry Insurance

One of the most common questions about Medicare is whether to enroll in Medicare Part A and B and if so, when. I thought I would take this opportunity to talk about this.

There are only certain times when people can enroll in Medicare. The first and most common one is your Initial Enrollment Period. It usually begins three months before the month you turn 65, includes the month you turn 65, and ends three months after the month you turn 65. This is a great time to meet with an agent like me and start the process of deciding which plan to choose.

However, there are a lot of scenarios where delaying enrollment makes more sense. Having employer coverage, coverage under your spouse's insurance, if you contribute to an HSA or if you have Tricare coverage are just a few of the reasons delaying may be the best choice.

If you would like to have guidance in making this choice, please feel free to call me. I would love to help you make sense of Medicare, understand the process, decide when enrolling is right for you, and pick a plan that is best for you. ■

Call Lynne Jones, a licensed sales person, at (480) 212-2246.

ARE MEDICARE PLAN CHANGES TOO CONFUSING?

Some Medicare plans are prone to change more than others each year. Let me help take some of the confusion out of choosing a plan for 2021 and beyond.

- Have you received a letter showing that your plan's rates have changed more than you would have liked?
- Would you like personalized help exploring your Medicare options?

You are not alone. This time of year is very confusing for most people that are on a Medicare plan.

Call me today for help navigating Annual Enrollment this year!

Seven Strategies for Better Brain Health

Submitted by Home Care Assistance

It's a question on the minds of millions of older Americans: Will I be diagnosed with dementia someday? Can anything be done to reduce the chance of cognitive decline as we age? Or are we at the mercy of the aging process?

The World Health Organization (WHO) tackled these questions in an exhaustive study. The findings are revealing, sometimes frustrating, and very important. Their answers will be of great interest to older people who wish to stave off the risks for dementia. It will also be helpful for everyone who loves and cares for them.

The WHO asked this question: "For adults with normal cognition or mild cognitive impairment, are physical activity interventions more effective than usual care or no intervention in reducing the risk of cognitive decline and/or dementia?" It's an important question — as the WHO reports that some 50 million people worldwide live with dementia.

A 2018 meeting of medical minds in Geneva identified seven key areas associated with slowing down or preventing memory and thinking tasks. Here are the highlights of the seven secrets to better brain health, as recapped in an article from Cognitive Vitality.

1. GET PHYSICAL Almost everyone knows that staying active can lead to a healthier body. But it's become increasingly clear that physical activity boosts brain health too. When we increase exercise, we also increase our odds of side-stepping cognitive challenges. We may even cut the risks of developing Alzheimer's disease and other forms of dementia.

What to do? Every sort of physical activity counts, whether you think of it as exercise or not. This includes playing sports, working out, walking around the block, riding a bike — even scrubbing the kitchen tile. 65 or older? Go for a minimum of two-and one-half hours per week of moderate physical activity, or one-and one-quarter hours of more intense activity every week.

2. BUTT OUT We have known about the health-harming damage of smoking cigarettes on our physical bodies for decades. But did you know smokers are more likely to develop dementia than non-smokers and have a nearly 80 percent greater chance of developing Alzheimer's disease?

3. EAT A BRAIN-HEALTHY DIET The same nutritious diet that leads to a healthy body can also build a happier brain. The WHO suggests that a Mediterranean diet might lower the chance for cognitive decline and dementia. In fact, an optimal diet may lead to increased brain volumes along with improved cognitive function.

There are other diets, of course, including the DASH diet designed to help with hypertension, and the MIND diet, developed to encourage better brain health. The WHO currently endorses neither of these diets, but they are worth considering. Interestingly, the WHO doesn't suggest vitamins and other supplements unless someone is suffering from a nutritional deficiency.

4. TO DRINK OR NOT TO DRINK While certain studies indicate that low-to-moderate alcohol consumption might contribute to a healthy brain, drinking too much has been linked to memory problems. The WHO believes stopping excess drinking may lower the risk of brain health issues.

If a senior has lost control of their drinking, consider an intervention. Options include behavioral therapy, counseling, and treatment with medication.

5. GOOD THINGS CAN HAPPEN WHEN YOU TRAIN YOUR BRAIN Did you know that certain types of brain training can reduce the risk of developing dementia? A leading research and outreach group called Cognitive Vitality shared the results of a decade-long study testing the effectiveness of several cognitive training regimens. In particular, a technique named speed-of-processing cut dementia risk by nearly 30 percent.

While you may not be able to teach an old dog new tricks, older individuals often benefit from lifelong learning. The WHO suggests cognitive training to lower dementia risk.

6. GET SOCIAL What do high blood pressure, heart disease, depression, and dementia have in common? Social isolation! Spending too much time alone and a lack of social engagement are connected to higher dementia risk. The WHO analyzed a trio of studies that looked at the relationship between social engagement and cognitive struggles. One study discovered that a social activity intervention boosted brain function.

Defeat senior loneliness and isolation with a more active social calendar. If necessary, stage a social intervention with your loved one.

7. DON'T WAIT TO LOSE WEIGHT It's common knowledge that being obese is connected to medical problems such as type 2 diabetes, heart disease, and cancer. Cognitive Vitality also reminds us that individuals who are significantly overweight have a higher risk for cognitive decline than those of us with appropriate body weight.

Losing weight may enhance certain cognitive functions. The WHO recommends weight management interventions for people in middle age. Lifestyle adjustments that encompass diet and physical activity are believed to deliver the most positive outcomes.

So here are some bite-sized nuggets to keep handy, brought to you by the WHO and your friends at Cognitive Vitality: exercise, quit smoking, eat for your brain, mind your alcohol consumption, get enough sleep, alleviate stress, be social, keep learning, and watch your weight. ■
